Law Forbids Pre-21 Liquor, Adds New 'Possession Clause'

Seven college students paid a total of $92 in fines and court costs in magistrate court, Monday, Sept. 19, for the possession of eight cans of beer.

Purchase or possession of liquor or beer by persons under 21 is now an offense punishable by a $1,000 maximum fine, a year's jail sentence or both according to a new ruling of the Department of Liquor Control of Missouri.

To sell beer and liquor to minors has always been illegal in Missouri. Before passage of the statute, however, there was little law officers could do once a minor had possession of intoxicants.

Hollis M. Ketchum, state liquor control supervisor, says that under the new law illegal drinking will be rigidly suppressed by his agents as well as by highway patrolmen and county sheriffs.

Ketchum states that the law is partially designed also to curtail the teen-age practice of drinking in automobiles while driving.

"I am certain," states Ketchum, "that few Missouri youths will violate this law once they are aware of it."

That Man Comes to Dinner

Housing Lack Hurts College Enrollment

The enrollment of Northwest Missouri State College was 1,938 students as of September 22. Of this total number of students, 28 were graduate students. This is about the same number of graduate students as enrolled in Northwest Missouri State last year; but it is an increase of about three percent over the fall semester of 1959 and is another record.

Lack of adequate on-campus housing apparently held back the 1960-61 enrollment at Northwest State College.

Records indicate in excess of 2,200 permits were issued, but nearly 300 apparently did not find housing or work, or some other reason kept them from attending.

"The officials of the school know of a number of students who came to register and left because of the lack of dormitory facilities," Dr. J. W. Jones, MSC president, explained.

An application for $2,100,000 in federal funds is pending final action.

This project will consist of two units, one to house 260 women, and the other 266 men. Each unit to be added to existing facilities.

At the present time, according to housing records in Dean Lon Wilson's office, there are 326 men living in on-campus facilities, 439 women; 44 veterans families; and 23 families have trailers in College park.

And rooms in private homes within a six to seven block area from the College are filled for the most part with students.

Student Teacher Seminar to Meet

The first student teaching seminar will be held Wednesday, September 2, at 4:00 in the Horace Mann Auditorium.

All student teachers, on or off campus, are expected to attend.

Mr. Milan B. Dady is co-ordinator of the program this year.

Seniors Elect Smith, Prexy

Class meetings were held September 21 for the purpose of electing class officers for the year.

The senior class selected Riggs Smith, president; Lucille Raney, vice-president; Toni Skoglund, secretary; Wayne Anderson, treasurer.

Juniors chose Bill Needles, president; Larry Davis, vice-president; Bobby Walker, secretary; Monica Parks, treasurer.

Donaldson, Fetterer Star In First Drama Feature

Marguerite Donaldson and Richard Fetterer have captured the lead roles in The Man Who Came To Dinner, the first event of the 1960-61 Drama Department.

The play by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman will be presented November 17 and 18 in the main auditorium of Ad Building.

Johnson, Miller Show Work in Two Exhibits

Two exhibits have been arranged by the Art Department to open their season of varied activities, Sept. 16th thru Oct. 1st.

Mr. Charles L. Johnson, acting chairman of the Art department, has arranged a placard preview of Venice in the department's gallery in the Ad building. Of special interest are scenes of the Doge's Palace, Grand Canal, and the Byzantine structures of St. Mark's Square. This exhibit is one of an extensive series prepared by LIFE Magazine concerning the "History of Western Culture."

Ceramics from the personal collection of Mr. Richard L. Miller are on display in the first floor showcases of the Library. Included in this exhibit are two Early Colonial stone-ware bottles, a variety of decorative pieces by popular contemporary American potters, a brown vase from a modern Japanese studio pottery, and assorted ware made by the artist.

Mr. Miller's collection contains over one-hundred pieces, and will be presented in three separate showings throughout the year.

Dr. Coppersmith Addresses Alumni

Dr. Robert Coppersmith, Kansas State University, Manhattan, will be the guest speaker for the St. Joseph chapter, NWMSC Alumni dinner meeting in St. Joseph, October 8, 7:00 p.m., at the Maples Tea-room.

Officers of the alumni chapter are Kenneth Barnes, president; Noma Sawyers, vice-president; and Opal West, treasurer.

Johnson Offers Longer Hours Library Use

In an effort to improve library service, the Library is making two changes in hours, Mr. James Johnson, librarian announced.

The Library will be open from eight in the morning until nine-thirty at night. It will not close from six to seven.

It will be open from three in the afternoon until seven on Sundays.

Mr. Johnson commented, "Both of these changes are experiments which will be judged by the results they bring."

This year in the library there will be a full time reference librarian, who will be at the desk in the reference room. The librarian, Miss Barbara Palling, will be there to help students find the information that they need.

The play opens with Sheridan Whiteside (Richard Fetterer) having dined at the home of the Stanleys. While visiting he slips on their doorstep and breaks his hip. A tumultuous six weeks of confinement follow.

When Maggie (Marguerite Donaldson), Whiteside's secretary, falls in love with the reporter Bert Jefferson (Jerry Durlam), Whiteside summons a famous actress named Lorraine (Marilyn Gillis) to win the affections of the young reporter.

Maggie, knowing Lorraine's capabilities, enlists the aid of a clever impersonator to imitate Lorraine's husband-to-be via the telephone. The impersonator instructs Lorraine to return and marry him. When the actress discovers the scheme, trouble begins.

Ex-convicts, enormous telephone bills, domesticated pen-guins, cockroaches, and a mummy case complete the confusion that reigns in the Stanley household.

Other students selected to participate in the play are as follows: Kent Binns, Richard Stanley; Dennis Rhodes, John; Jack Lasley, Mr. Stanley; Allen Seifert, Dr. Bradley.

Robert Sandmaier, Professor Melz; Dick Shipley, first convict; Jerry Harmsan, second convict; Perry Spies, third convict.

Max Buckner, Mr. Baker; Dennis Karstan, Expressman; Greg Gunther, Sandy; Walt Tibken; Beverly Carlton; Gary Barber, Westcott.

Bob Cotter, first radio technician; Ronnie King, second radio technician; John Quastler, Banjo; Dolleta Burrell, Mrs. Earnest W. Stanley.

Marceline Latham, Miss Preen; Pat Dunham, Sarah the cook; Jean Myers, Mrs. Dexter; Marilyn Zbierski, Mrs. McCutcheon; and Gaye Laughery, Harriet Stanley.

Vocal, instrumental, dance and novelty acts will be considered. Evelyn Robison and Dr. Ralph Fulsom are in charge of the variety show, and Stan Morris and Lucile Raney are Homecoming committee co-chairmen.

Bitty Flicker vs. Muntry Grumpkin

Once upon a planet, there lived a Muntry Grumpkin. He was indeed a fine specimen of a Grumpkin, for he was tall and handsome, and had ten thousand legs with which to run while playing bootfall.

He lived in a fine place surrounded by beautiful shady trees, received a bountiful compensation from the king for being a good sport, and, in general, was as blissfully happy as a Grumpkin can ever be.

He learned many things at the palace, for all the tutors were eager to serve him, since they all admired him greatly. Sometimes, they would even leave copies of their quizzes in the baste-wasket for him to find, because they were dedicated to the task of furnishing the charming Grumpkin with a mess of learning.

One day, a bitty flicker came to live at the palace. He really wasn't much of a flicker for he didn't care at all for court activities, or bootfall or cliquernity strife. He had come swimming into town one day (for it had rained, and the roads were full of vast lakes) and decided to take full advantage of the opportunities offered him at the palace.

In due course of time, the Flicker met the Grumpkin, when the latter was playing kroaker in the game room of the palace. This place was fondly known as the kroaker and moffee room, for here was served excellent moffee for only five swindles a cup.

The Flicker commented upon the gracious living which was enjoyed ball at the palace, but made the mistake of inquiring why there was no place in which to park his black charger.

This aroused the anger of the Grumpkin and he replied that they didn't need any charger parkers, for everybody lived happily together, enjoying court activities and cliquernity affairs, and who needed a charger anyway, when everyone had ten thousand strong legs with which to walk?

The stupid Flicker then made his second mistake. He slyly inquired why the king was going to palace quarters, when many many rooms at court were even now standing vacant?

"Why couldn't he use some of the grollars for a new road without deep valleys in it, and a large charger parker?" quoth the Flicker.

"Who needs it," snarled the Grumpkin, "and who needs you either, you foolish Flicker. You are merely a bitter Bitty Flicker because the tutors gave you mad barks on your quizzie in woeful compliance."

"That is true," lamented the Flicker, "but all the same, is it not the true that said tutors are ordered by the court to issue a specified amount of wailing barks in that particular subject?"

"Not at all," the Grumpkin icily replied, as a cliquernity Grumpkin quickly drew his squelche.

"Help, help," squealed the Flicker, "this is the end!" And, indeed it was.

Union Board Aims For Improved Facilities

A very important and active organization here on the NW-MSC campus is the Union Board. This board controls all social activities on campus and provides many supplementary activities.

Examples of events sponsored by the Union Board are the regular Monday night after-dinner dances, den movies and the dances following them, and all major dances of the year such as the Christmas dance and the annual all-school spring formal.

The Union Board consists of ten committees which control and coordinate its activities. Chairmen of these committees were chosen in the spring of last year.

The main officials of the Board are Joe Merrigan, chairman; Bill Needles, vice-chairman; Carolyn Boner, secretary; and Earl Boyd, treasurer.

The committee chairmen this year are Julia Elmore, publicity; Judy Slusher, publications; Bobby Walker, decorations; Bill Simmons, television and movies; Jack Freese, central party; Gene Vogel, im-

Now these chairmen must choose committee members to work with them on various projects. This week the Union Board is carrying on a drive for committee members.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of a Union Board committee can obtain an application blank in the office of Mrs. L. G. Bladt, Director of Student Activities, on the second floor of the Union building.

Membership on a Union Board committee earns one point a year toward Who's Who. Application blanks can also be obtained from any Union Board officer or committee chairman. Don't delay. Do it now!

Bearcats Take First Two

Ft. Hays Drops To Defense

The 'Cats went out under new coach Earl Baker to win with a new single wing offensive and successfully halted the T-play power thrusts of the Beavers. The T-style offensive of the past two decades is changed for the Bearcats.

It was like the opening of a new Broadway play. "Director" Earl Baker showed the Bearcats what to do. And they learned their "lines" well.

Coach Earl Baker's Northwest State College Bearcats fought "in the hole" most of the game Saturday against the Ft. Hays Tigers, but their continued determination finally broke it open in the last four minutes and they won their second road game of the season.

Final score was Bearcats 14, Ft. Hays, 9.

Trailing 7-9 after the middle of the final stanza, the Bearcats took a Tiger kick on their own 20 and moved up the field. Finally Maurice Fulton, who hit 6 of 8 passes during the night, hit Ken Sanders who went 45 yards for the TD.

The Bearcat drive started after Ft. Hays scored on Jack Richardson's catywampus 13-yard field goal that gave them a 9-7 edge and the Kansans kicked off.

Smarting from a 6-0 half-time deficit, the Bearcats came out for the third period with dogged determination. After several plays the Tigers moved to the Bearcat one, one of seven times they were inside of the Maryville 20 during the evening.

In total offense, the Bearcats marked up 338 yards to Ft. Hays' 250. Maryville netted 179 yards to the Tigers' 202 on the ground, but their aerial offense gave them 159 yards to Ft. Hays' 48.

In passing Fulton hit 6 of 8 for 141 yards and Sanders hit 2 of 5 for 18.

Baker Bosses Bearcats,

Earl H. Baker, 35-year-old former Cameron High School coach, succeeded Paul Turner as NWMSC football mentor Aug. 1.

As coach of the Cameron Dragons for the past seven years, he led teams to two conference championships — the Northwest Missouri Conference and the Grand River Conference.

In over-all play, his gridsters piled up 51 wins, 8 losses and four ties. Baker favors single-wing formations.

He is a graduate of Missouri

Valley College, where he lettered in football from 1946 through 1950. While playing there in 1949, he was named all-conference guard. The new grid mentor gained his master's degree from Northeast Missouri State College, Kirksville, 1957.

Baker is married and the father of two boys and two girls. The family attends the Baptist Church.

Baker also will be instructor in health and physical education at NWMSC.
